Dear Ms. Harmelink:

We are pleased to inform you that the NA EYC Commission on Early Childhood Associate Degree Accreditation finds the A.A.S. Early Childhood Studies program at Pima Community College to have met the conditions set by the Commission in the initial accreditation decision. Continued accreditation is awarded for a full seven-year term, through the dates on the enclosed Accreditation Certificate.

The program submitted all of the requested items: revised assessments for Standards 3 and 4, revised rubrics for all key assessments, and revised instructions for all key assessments. The Commission noted that the program has done excellent work aligning the assessments, providing appropriate rubrics, and outlining very clear student instructions. The student instructions include templates and even examples that will enable students to meet expectations. The Commission commended the program for completing this work.

As you know, accreditation is maintained through submission of an Annual Report and Annual Fee. Your reporting date is on the cover page of the original Decision Report. Current fees are posted at www.naeyc.org; and in the online accreditation community of practice. Accreditation expires seven years after the original Commission decision. One year before expiration, programs submit a new Self-Study Report and host a new site visit
