

Pima Community College Arizona State University

Concurrent Enrollment Program (CEP)

The Concurrent Enrollment Program (CEP) is a partnership between Pima Community College and Arizona State University which allows nursing students the opportunity to complete their Associate of Applied Science (AAS) in nursing through their community college while simultaneously completing their Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN) through ASU. CEP students take nursing coursework in-person at PCC and online through ASU. This program offers a time-efficient and cost-effective pathway to the BSN. Upon completion, students will graduate with both their Associate of Applied Science in Nursing from the community college and their BSN from ASU.

Steps to Apply

1. Meet with an academic advisor at PCC Nursing.
2. Attend a PCC nursing information session.
3. Apply to the PCC nursing program.
4. Mark the ASU CEP interest box on the PCC nursing application.

Selection Process

1. PCC will review applications for admission and placement.
2. ASU will determine eligibility for the CEP (see requirements below). Notification of eligibility does not indicate admission to the CEP. Students must be placed by PCC for a specific semester to participate in the program.
3. Pima CC notifies students of placement. Students must accept their space according to PCC's requirements.
