POLAROID STORIES.

A raw, spellbinding tale of young people living on the street told through a visceral blend of classical mythology and gritty real life stories that delve into a dangerous world where myth making fulfills a fierce need for transcendence. Told through poetry and coarse street language, the characters paint their reality with lies, wild yarns and clever deceptions, to make sense of past abuse, lost love, violence and drug addiction. Together the stories weave into beautiful, haunting vignettes that hit you right in the gut. Recommended for mature audience, contains adult language and themes. Thu.-Sat. at 7:30p.m., Sun. at 2p.m. Black Box Theatre. $17

ASL interpreters: April 25.
