Pima Community College realizes that today’s students often must balance school with work and family obligations. That is why Pima provides education where and when our students need it.

In addition to our six campuses, Pima offers instruction at more than 100 locations throughout Pima County, including Davis-Monthan Air Force Base.

Pima offers courses at nights and on weekends. We have different course types including courses that meet in the classroom, others that are online, and others that are “hybrids” combining classroom and Web-based instruction. And we have self-paced courses that allow students to learn at their own speed.

We offer courses in the traditional 16-week semester-long format. But we also offer express courses that can be completed in 11, eight or even just five weeks.

Talk to a PCC advisor about the many ways a Pima Community College education can fit your busy lifestyle.